

Get to know Ophthalmologist and Oculofacial Reconstructive Surgeon Dr. Roshni Ranjit-Reeves, who serves patients in Lutz

Roshni Ranjit-Reeves, MD, an Ophthalmologist and Oculofacial Reconstructive Surgeon with Oculofacial Surgery and Cosmetic Laser Institute

New York, New York City, Aug 23, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Ranjit-Reeves, known to her patients as Dr. Rosh, is a double board-certified ophthalmologist and oculofacial surgeon specializing in plastic surgery and reconstruction of the eyes and their surrounding structures, including the eyelids, eyelashes, orbit, eye socket, and lacrimal (tear duct) system. She is the Owner and Founder of Oculofacial Surgery and Cosmetic Laser Institute in Lutz, Florida.

As such, she offers a full range of facial rejuvenation services from non-invasive photofacials to minimally invasive procedures such as fillers, neurotoxins, and laser skin resurfacing in addition to surgery which allows for a multifaceted approach to the anti-aging process. She also uses medical-grade skincare to maintain the effects of surgical procedures to rehydrate and restore collagen for youthful skin.

“What drew me to medicine was the unique opportunity to foster a special patient-doctor relationship built upon deep-rooted trust. What drew me to ophthalmology was how life-changing that bond can be when it has the power to change the way patients see the world. What drew me to oculofacial and reconstructive surgery is how that relationship can alter the way the patients envision themselves” expressed the doctor.

Upon graduating with her Bachelor of Arts degree in Anthropology & Bachelor of Science degree in Biomedical Science from the University of South Florida in 2009, Dr. Rosh went on to further her education. She earned her medical degree from the University of South Florida Morsani College of Medicine in 2013, after which she performed her internship with the University of South Florida Affiliated Hospitals (Tampa General Hospital, James A. Haley Veterans Hospital, and Moffitt Cancer Center). She followed this up with a residency in ophthalmology at the University of South Florida Eye Institute, and a fellowship in oculofacial and reconstructive surgery at Duke University Eye Center.

Subsequent to her education, she attained board certification in ophthalmology through the American Board of Ophthalmology (ABO). The ABO is an independent, non-profit organization responsible for certifying ophthalmologists in the United States of America.

In good standing with a number of professional organizations, Dr. Rosh is an active member of the American Society of Ophthalmic Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery, the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the Tampa Bay Ophthalmology Society, the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, the American Medical Association, and the American Medical Women's Association.

Ophthalmology is a branch of medicine and surgery, which deals with the diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders. Ophthalmologists are experts in the diseases, functions, and anatomy of the eye. In addition to being able to evaluate the eye, ophthalmologists are also surgeons.

Passionate about bringing oculofacial reconstruction and aesthetic services to the greater Tampa area, Dr. Rosh has presented and served as a panel member, speaker, and instructor at national meetings.

Among her most notable achievements include Forsyth Magazine Women on the Move; Cosmetic Surgery Forum Top 10 Presenter'; Morsani College of Medicine Professionalism Delegate; University of South Florida Magna Cum Laude; and Assistant Consulting Professor Department of Ophthalmology at Duke University School of Medicine.

A Florida native and a beach lover, Dr. Rosh enjoys going to pilates and barre classes, traveling, and event planning. Her husband and college sweetheart is an interventional pain specialist at Excel Pain and Spine.
