Kansas City, Aug 30, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Warm vocals and a deftly produced musical arrangement have united in the latest track 'Cruisin' by Lazy Projector. The band has created this wonderful single by crafting some remarkably engaging grooves and infectious lyricism that can envelop all kinds of listeners. There is an amalgamated essence of pop, alternative rock, lo-fi, and folk tunes present in the track; a perfect example of experimental indie music. The simplicity in lyrical approach and an intoxicating singing style create a major vocal hook which is further carried by the dicey musical arrangement. All of the members have worked hard and united effort reflects through its smooth representation.

Captivating the listeners with the avant-garde improvisations of music, the Lazy Projector is formed by the creative mind of singer/songwriter Aaron Shinn. Initially, it started as a solo project but now, it is taking a bigger scale with its precious musical contributions. He studied at Kansas State University and has been exposed to a variety of music genres which made him draw inspiration from everything. Inspired by Spoon, Wilco, Broken Bells, and The Kinks; Shinn has been captivating everyone with a dynamic musical approach. In 2019, the band has released an album named 'Evoco' which garnered a lot of attention with its ten beautiful singles.

The latest track 'Cruisin' is another addition to the musical journey which can be considered as a milestone. The track is piquing everyone's attention including fellow music artists. To listen to more amazing tracks under this project, follow the band over Spotify.
