

Dive into all the latest urban media news on WEONNATIONS's new acquisition WEONTV

broadcasting news related to the media and entertainment industry, has entered into a new agreement with O.M.G Entertainment to launch a new channel.

Established in 2015, WEONATION, a New York-based media group aims to help musicians from around the world gain their deserved appreciation. WEONATION/ WEONRADIO were purchased by the independent record label, O.M.G Entertainment, inc. last year. Now, The Full-Stack Multimedia Label which comes under O.M.G Entertainment, inc. have announced the launch of a new TV network named WEONTV which will air on Apple TV, Roku, and Amazon Fire TV.

The network will launch in November and will focus on showcasing urban ideas such as hip-hop and R&B video count-down shows, various performing artists, and other in-studio and on-the-ground variety shows.

WEONATION gears up to embark on its new journey and WEONTV is a division of the latest acquisition by the brand. This comes across as exciting news for both the artists and the fans, as the network intends to portray the talent of the music artists to the world. The upcoming network will be an independent media arm of WEONATION and the company claims it as the audience's urban fix.

WEONATION which is the WEON Radio Station of Brand O.M.G Entertainment, Inc is owned by Maurice Jones who is popular by his stage name Artist Kilo M.O.E. The streaming service is set to deliver complete entertainment to music fans with its reality-based updates and music artists can promote their music to witness steady growth in their career graph.

Born as a collaborative product, WEONTV will host independent Ad space for various national and local brands that will significantly amplify the brand's reach on the global platform. Based in Saint Louis, WEONTV will broadcast a wide range of shows and interviews that include in-studio interviews and shows. The network has a wide reach across 140 countries and inspires thousands of musicians to submit their videos. The launch of WEONTV is a beneficial move that will provide an exciting viewing option for the global audience that was not available through a multicast channel until now.

The innovative media company serves the greater good of the struggling artists who deserve to be mentioned on the bigger platforms. The channel WEONTV will be hosted on the company's website (www.weonation.com). Viewers can sign up on the mailing list to stay updated with all the latest content and the artists can submit content either on the company's Facebook page or sign up on the email list.

WEONRADIO is a one-stop entertainment fix that covers all the latest news including Sports, Music, and other Indie movements that requires attention. It hosts channels like Tha Grizz Publishing, Live 365, and others featuring the best music.

It is needless to say that the launch of WEONTV by the Full Stack Multimedia Label will positively impact the broadcast industry and increase opportunities for the entire music fraternity.
