

CloutBoy Releases New Single “All In” Including A Visual

CloutBoy is back with his latest drop "All In". Expressing quitting school to pursue his career as an artist.

Tennessee, Memphis, Oct 15, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - CloutBoy has released the new song “All In” and its accompanying music video.

CloutBoy originally released the audio to "All In" on September 14, 2021. Going on to release the lyrical video as well. Without much warning, CloutBoy seemly continues to release new music on YouTube with accompanying videos. Once again he's done it with "All In".

In the song, he delivers some standout lines, including one where he talks about quitting school early. "Sixteen 10th grade I dropped out of school, finna' get me a business-like one or two," he says in the first verse. Implying that he chose to stop going to high school before being able to graduate, while only in 10th grade. CloutBoy also went on to state his own birth name in the song "Walk in the bank they ready to greet you, Corleone Tuggle hi nice to meet you". Also in the first verse of the song.

Quotable Lyrics

Hear a beat that I like and get straight to business
Can't run it on me I need every penny
Can't pop it on me I'm the first to did it
Put that s on my shoe damn near match my fitit
I f up in life in then I had to fix it
I done bossed up my bag on all these B**
I done turnt' up my swag how I be dripn'
Ain't using no condom want plenty children (At all)
Ain't tryna' do no time in the penitentiary (At all)
