

For National Entrepreneur's Day, Chicago Entrepreneur Launches JUST CALL RANDI! to Coach Other Entrepreneurs

At 12:01 AM on November 16, for National Entrepreneur's Day, Brill will click PUBLISH to launch justcallrandi.com, the consultancy's new website.

Chicago, Illinois Nov 15, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - To honor National Entrepreneurship Month, established Chicago entrepreneur, Randi Brill officially launched JUST CALL RANDI her new entrepreneurial coaching business on the first of November. Now on November 16th at exactly 12:01 AM, at the very start of National Entrepreneur's Day, Brill will click PUBLISH to launch justcallrandi.com, the consultancy's new website.

JUST CALL RANDI helps other established entrepreneurs, many of whom also happen to be strong women, create what's next for their businesses. Brill refuses to use the term women entrepreneurs.

"It's high time we shed the women adjective. Our results should drive us past this. Yet as women, we run our businesses differently; we have to. I know all that it takes to run successful entrepreneurial businesses and how to royally mess up and fix it—all while having kids, a busy husband, aging parents, major losses, and much more. These experiences have made me a strong coach to all entrepreneurs."

Entrepreneurs begin with 6 virtual CREATIVITY LEADS 1:1 Coaching Sessions to shape visions, untangle obstacles, and transform plans into reality. Brill provides an initial complimentary 60-minute ASK ME ANYTHING session to confirm the fit works. JUST CALL RANDI also offers an array of add-on creative services to give entrepreneurs immediate creative acceleration support. Brill typically coaches entrepreneurs who have been running their businesses for at least 5 years with revenue at or close to $1M up to $10M. Long-time colleague, Rebecca Graziano of RZG Editorial Solutions says, "Everyone who works with Randi knows she excels at helping others find their way. It comes down to this: Would I hire Randi Brill to coach me? With the last dollar in my pocket."

Brill is honored to be part of and support this powerful cadre of risk-taking visionaries. "It's no surprise that November is our month; it's a time for Thanksgiving," she says. "As an entrepreneur, I'm grateful that our guts, results, and the differences we strive to make are recognized with our very own month and day! What better time could there be to launch JUST CALL RANDI's coaching website to support such amazing, brave leaders?"

A Carnegie-Mellon University graduate, Brill launched her first business, Quarasan, at age 25 in her Morton Grove basement with only $57 in start-up capital. She still runs Quarasan today plus a diverse array of other nested operating entities. Brill didn't name JUST CALL RANDI; her clients did because regardless of what she calls her other companies when they need help or solutions—they JUST CALL RANDI.

Randi may be reached directly at randi@justcallrandi.com or 312-848-0325 or 312-371-9402.

Randi typically checks her email throughout the night. We did tell you she's an entrepreneur, right? Brill shares her first-hand entrepreneurial wisdom in her colorful book, 99 Creative WOWs: Words of Wisdom for Business, published by her own Randiland Press. She also speaks candidly about her journey in what she humorously calls her "one-woman stand com" because there's no time for sitting in her sitcom!
