

IR Introduces New Way to Enhance Business

Competitive Financing Supports Client Growth

Edmonton, Alberta Nov 15, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - IR Supplies and Services has come up with yet another great way for clients to grow their business. Now, with in-house financing, purchases have never been easier.

Glenn Snell, director of sales, commented on the great new service. “IR is passionate about supporting clients’ needs. This new financing option will provide them with flexible solutions that will enable them to direct their incoming job revenue to cover the cost of buying new equipment.”

With financing from IR, clients who had to wait for growth in their business before making capital expenditures can now be proactive with their purchasing decisions. With competitive interest rates—as low as 6%*—clients can access terms up to five years. Approval can take as little as 24 hours, with funding available shortly after that.

“Our financing option will allow clients to expand their current capabilities while maintaining return on investment, all with flexible terms. With this addition, IR now has several ways-- from renting to financing--to get new equipment in clients’ hands“, explains Robbie VanHoek, managing director of business development.

Robert Muschket, the owner of IR, expanded on his vision for the company. “We’ve always had a very strong focus on quality products supported by services done by staff with the right expertise. Now we feel that we have taken that one step further. With our new financing offering, we feel we have a great solution for the needs of so many of our clients.”
