

Joyce Redding, RN, a Registered Nurse with Medical Care Advocacy Group

Get to know Registered Nurse, Joyce Redding, who serves patients in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

New York City, New York Nov 17, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Joyce is a registered nurse currently serving patients at her private practice - Medical Care Advocacy Group - in Virginia Beach, Virginia. With over 45 years of clinical experience in critical care nursing, nursing educator, home-based health care, expertise as a hospice liaison/educator, and the mother of a daughter with a disability, she is well acquainted with the complexities of the modern healthcare system and is well qualified to navigate and manage the medical system.

“Working with a patient advocate is a very personal relationship and requires good communication skills and trust. I will, in all situations, respect your privacy and communicate relevant information to your family as necessary. I love to advocate, educate, and solve problems for patients and their families” expressed Joyce.

To begin her career, she attended Ohio State University and earned her nursing degree in 1973, followed by her Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree. From there, she went on to attend the University of Virginia - Nursing School and earn her Master of Science in Nursing degree.

In order to remain up to date with the latest medical advancements in her field, Joyce maintains a professional membership with the National Association of Healthcare Advocacy.

Throughout her career, she has advocated at some of the best hospitals in the country. She will provide a caring, focused plan for patients and their family members. Her goal is to help them better understand a diagnosis, medications, diet, housing options post-hospitalization or post-rehabilitation.

A Registered Nurse (RN) is a nurse who has graduated from a nursing program and met the requirements outlined by a country, state, province, or similar licensing body to obtain a nursing license. RNs fulfill a variety of job duties. In addition to their primary role in treating and caring for patients, their responsibilities also include educating patients and the public about a variety of medical conditions, as well as providing emotional support and advice to the families of their patients. Other RN job functions include leadership, research, performing diagnostic tests and analyzing results, operating medical equipment, administering medications, recording patients' symptoms and medical histories, and assisting with patient rehabilitation and follow-up.

Learn More about Joyce Redding:

Through her online profile, <https://todaysnurse.org/network/index.php?do=/4148261/info/> or through Medical Care Advocacy Group, <https://medicalcareadvocacygroup.com/about-us/>

Media Contact

Your Health Contact

clientservice@yourhealthcontact.com

Source : Joyce Redding, RN

See on IssueWire

