Get to know Internist Dr. Paul H. Kim, who serves patients in White Plains, New York.

New York City, New York Nov 11, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Experienced in all aspects of internal medicine, Dr. Kim caters to the individuals of White Plains, New York, and practices at Maple Medical, LLP. He is a dedicated provider who focuses on ensuring that his patients receive appropriate care and are well informed and involved in their treatment process.

“We are proud to provide excellent healthcare and services in a comfortable and personable setting with individual attention to each of our patients. Maple Medical has cared for you and your family in Westchester for over 25 years. Our primary goal is your good health, whatever your healthcare needs may be. With board-certified doctors representing primary care and various specialties, you will have the comfort of knowing that your care can be completely integrated, all under the watchful eyes of your personal physician” as stated on their website.

At the start of his academic career, Dr. Kim graduated with his Bachelor of Science degree from Columbia University in 1991. Four years later, in 1995, he earned his medical degree from SUNY Downstate College of Medicine. From there, he went on to perform his residency in internal medicine at Saint Vincent’s Hospital and Medical Center.

An active member of the American College of Physicians and the Leo M Davidoff Society at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

In addition to providing his services at Maple Medical, LLP, Dr. Kim is affiliated with White Plains Hospital. His philosophy of practice is to assess possible contributory factors to his patient's current disease, with clear explanations to help them contribute to their own healing. He is practical in approach and concerned not only about the patient’s disease and healing, but also their quality of life.

Alongside his clinical role, he serves as a Clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at New York Medical College.

Internal medicine is the medical specialty dealing with the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of adult diseases. Physicians specializing in internal medicine are called internists. They manage and prevent common and complex diseases by providing comprehensive care and promoting overall well-being.

Among his philanthropic endeavors, Dr. Kim is a supporter of the Institutes of Applied Human Dynamics. He is also the recipient of several awards and honors for his work, including the Patients’ Choice Award (2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2015), Compassionate Doctor Recognition (2010, 2011, 2015), and On-Time Doctor Award (2014, 2015, 2016).
