

Set To Release Artist Napoleon Former Members Of 2Pac's Group Theoutlawz

Los Angeles, California Dec 13, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Thirteen (13) years after the death of its co-founder Johnny Lee Jackson P/K/A Johnny “J”, who sold more than 100 million records worldwide, notably, for producing over 100 songs for the late Tupac Shakur (2Pac). His passing like his friend and music partner has been a controversial one. His life will be documented in an upcoming documentary titled Johnny “J” LEGEND (The Man Behind the Music) about his life, career, and untimely death.

Johnny left behind a catalog of music, that just can’t be ignored. The fans, bootleggers, and those who just want to continue to hear his timeless music, will be in for a real treat. All of the projects that were shelved according to Co-Founder Capucine Jackson, who was the wife of the late Johnny “J”, is set to release Napoleon’s solo project Have Mercy (Part 1) on Dec 15th, was produced entirely by Johnny “J”.

The singles Never Forget, which had a video on YouTube for many years, but there was never an official release of the project until now. There will be about 5 singles and videos for the project included is Thin Line, Fast Life Featuring Barrington Levy, Have Mercy, and Oh No! The album was shelved due to the artist Napoleon’s conversion to Islam. KLOCK WORK was going to honor the wishes of Napoleon, by not putting the album out, but after the founder had received many requests from the fans, and seeing low-quality versions of some of the songs on the internet, and even Death Row Records Vault, had illegally released a few of its songs from the Have mercy and the title album for download.

KLOCK WORK Entertainment will not be bullied, by any of these entertainment giants!
