Austin, Texas Dec 27, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - If your little ones are asking difficult questions or doubting that Santa can be real, TELE-SANTA will answer all those technical issues for you. bit.ly/tele-santa-book

Many people aren't even aware that Santa has a family. Yes, two sons - Nicholas and Klaus, plus a daughter, Sandy. She even has a talking Anti-gravity Sleigh named Blaise. Mom, Sara helps manage the domed North Pole Estate.

One day while sitting at the Command Center, they received a message about Zwerkin's family, his boss Snavelly trying to take their house, and the help needed to finish the TELE-SANTA Game. Zwerkin's kids, Bethany and Silvin had written the letter using something new and fast - email. Despite mom's objections, Santa dispatches Sandy and Klaus to sort it out. Sandy meets Zwerkin and gets smitten while learning about his more important invention - a Teleportation Device that could really help Santa.

Snavelly is a very diabolical fellow. He wants to take over Christmas. He sings a talking blues song about "deer kabobs and antler soup" as he puts on a black Santa suit and becomes Snavelly Claws!

Sandy is surprised when Santa invites Zwerkin up to the North Pole to demo the Teleporter. Zwerkin assures her the device is safe even though he hasn't tried it on a human yet. Despite some transmogrification, Zwerkin arrives dazed and confused with most of his clothes gone. When he's recovered, Santa sings about longevity and wealth in his theme song "Perspectivity." Santa says, "It's not what you see, it's how you see it."

Bethany and Silvin are brought to the North Pole, too. When Chief Engineer Elf, Jan fixes the TELE-SANTA Game - Silvin decides they will be the heroes if they Teleport back home, deliver the TELE-SANTA Game to Snavelly and save their house. Unfortunately, Snavelly captures them, steals the Teleporter, and gleefully heads up to the North Pole to confront Santa and take over... and he brought a Melter!
