

BooksCritt – Right Place to Get Reliable Book Marketing Services for Your Books

Want more readers to know about your book? Employ book marketing services that bridge the gap between your readers and the book using different marketing methods.

Cheyenne, Wyoming Jan 25, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - BooksCritt, a well-known name in the book promotion world, aims to help authors reach their target audience without any hassle. Using different tried-and-tested book marketing techniques, the website offers to get you the recognition you deserve in the literary world within days. Compared to other services their promotional campaign cost a lot lesser despite providing all the benefits of online book promotion. The experts here represent innovative promotional campaigns that are not only out-of-the-box but also dig out the best benefits for the writers. No doubt this book promotional company has paved a way for the authors to become everyone's favorite within a short timeframe.

Recently, this website has introduced high-quality book marketing services which the authors can avail of sitting at their convenience. The service offers promotion to authors writing books in various genres. BooksCritt has a proficient team of members who researches every single book of their clients and come up with the ideal marketing plan for them. They also study the audience who is and might be interested in their clients' books and target only them for promotion. That way the attention they are able to gather is completely organic and profitable for the writers. Their marketing campaign is powerful enough to generate effective results within days.

The company uses the most effective content marketing techniques and tools to promote the books of its users online. They have a paid press releases service that includes journalistic PR crafting about the book and PR distribution on hundreds of online media outlets including Google News. The writing team at BooksCritt is well-versed in crafting blogs and news about the books, which are then placed on various major websites and platforms. They create genuine book reviews that present the true potential of the books to the readers. Their author interviews help the writers build legitimacy across the literary world fast. The company even adds a short book introductory section to their package so that the readers can be aware of what the book is about.

The power of Google ads needs no explanation. Bookscrit is also aware of how much online visibility and engagement it provides, that is why the website offers paid Google ads promotion for every user. The books are promoted on Google Display Networks, YouTube networks, PR sites, media websites, and more. This helps in developing a stronger SEO for your book. So, whenever a target audience is searching for a book in your genre, your story will appear in their search result increasing the chances of massive audience engagement. Your books are likely to reach 9k to 18k audience with their paid Google ads promotion.

Apart from audience targeting, Google ads promotion, content marketing, and SEO services, Bookscrit offers social media promotion for their clients as well. The website provides sponsored promotion on various social media platforms like Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Pinterest. The authors and their books are showcased before the massive audience based on these platforms, bringing maximum online exposure and engagement in just a matter of days. The basic package starts at $39 and the users can create their own package adding whatever additional service they want with it. The users will be able to see the difference in their audience engagement after availing of their services.

Round-the-clock support team is always there to guide the authors at their needs. While availing of the services, if you face any sort of hassles, then feel free to email them at info@bookscrit.com.

Media Contact

Bookscrit

info@bookscrit.com

Source : Bookscrit

See on IssueWire