Charlotte, North Carolina Jan 30, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - INSIGHT Magazine a nationally-distributed print and digital magazine recently released its Winter 2022 issue which includes a profile of entertainer Cocoa Brown plus plenty of other interesting stories and commentary.

The seasonal magazine promises “insightful views on social events, fashion flares, healthy cuisine and beauty tips to maintain, and savvy lifestyles for all.”

The 74-page winter issue is helmed by Editor-in-Chief Curtis Lawrence, Sr., a Florida native who served in the Army for 24 years and is now the founder and owner of Insight Photography.

Each issue includes a variety of engaging and informative info about living life better plus portraying people of interest.

The overall theme of this issue is “Level Up” and many of the articles present tips on how to improve many aspects of your life, from your fashion to your general outlook.

Readers will receive an inspiring look at the glamorous life of Cocoa Brown, an amazing entrepreneur who was once a single mom with no idea what to do with her life.

Today, she’s accomplished goals of being a successful actress, comedian, business owner, and advocate for those battling lupus -- and has looked good doing it all. Brown credits a lot of her accomplishments with being willing to “hustle harder,” plus a secret ingredient she calls #BlackGirlMagic.

Other interesting stories that promote Leveling Up include:

- A profile of actor/producer/director William “Big Sleeps” Stewart
- Useful money management tips for marriage, real estate, and future retirement needs
- Strategies for creating and maintaining a solid beard – including pairing clothing with your BeardGame.
- Trends in hats and headwear for men and women
