About Future Pro USA

Founded by David Bainbridge in 2011, Future Pro USA Ltd is a recruitment agency that supports young UK athletes who are determined to achieve athletic and academic success in the United States of America. David has graduated from Queens University in Charlotte, North Carolina. Besides studying for his degree, he captained his university team and enjoyed a wonderful 4-year experience.

His own poor experience with some UK agencies - that had promised to get him a US scholarship but did not do so despite an upfront payment - inspired David to start a genuine agency of his own. At Future Pro USA, clients pay only half of the deposit at the beginning of any program and 50% balance when the company starts the Visa process. The organization is helping students secure scholarships in soccer, golf, tennis, swimming, and a few other international sports.
