

Cricket Needs Passion and Dedication: Arif Patel

Arif Patel famous cricketer in the History of Dubai. His dedication, motivation, and confidence brought him to the stage where the world can see him as an inspiration.

Dubai, United Arab Emirates Apr 14, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Becoming a cricketer and striving on international grounds has never been easy but Arif Patel cricketer took this challenge and got things done quite easily. His dedication, motivation, and confidence brought him to the stage where the world can see him as an inspiration. But not many of us know what it took him to reach this stage. The awardee of multiple honours, Arif Patel cricketer has set the benchmark for the upcoming generations.

He had always been ardently practising. He preaches and follows the law of 10,000, which states one need not put in a lot of hard and fast effort into their practice but their dedication to work. The early one hits the ground for practising is how they can reach their targets faster and achieve their goals. Arif believes there is absolutely no substitute for drilling.

He also thinks that if you are practising, you should be putting in effort in a way that you will get noticed. Else, the labour will go in vain. If things are not happening just the way you want right now, it is always better to push yourself to the last limits where it will be easier for you to reach the limelight. Constantly ask your coach to push you further down your limits and understand what it will take to get to the next level. This is something that Arif Patel Famous cricketer of Dubai has always practised.

Cricket is something that requires mental toughness in order to succeed. The matches can be easily won or lost based on your willpower and thoughts. Before you begin practising physically, you need to start training your mind first. This is an important technique also to improve and strengthen your cover drive or googly. Arif has always believed that you need to study and practice yourself in order to bounce back. In such a situation, it will be easier for you to face wins or losses in a sporting way.

According to Arif Patel cricketer, finding the right mentor is equally important for a sportsperson to succeed. He had also succeeded with the help of his mentor. Having a great mentor can make a big difference in your game; whether you make it to the international stage or not. They will help you to push yourself to the next stage, just when you are completely ready for it. You need to look out for individuals whom you will be able to trust as well as admire and confide in them for their opinions. You will learn more with people whom you will be able to love.

Arif Patel cricketer knows that there are separate pathways to national and international cricket in every country. The individual must know the right way to get to the top and be patient all the way. You must know the system in and out to rising and shine professionally. Keep on asking the seniors for advice and try implementing them in your actual life. This is how Arif Patel cricketer became the cricketer all-rounder he is today.

His professionalism brought him several recognitions on the international stage and this has made him one of the top cricketers in Dubai. He has evolved as one of the best all-rounders who will be remembered for years. Needless to say, the youth today are in awe of his magnificent personality both on and off the ground and they try to imbibe within themselves the skills he had sharpened. By following him, any youth who is determined to make a career in cricket is going to reach the best heights.

Media Contact

Arif patel

arifpatel8911@gmail.com

Source : cricketerarifpatel.blogspot.com

See on IssueWire

