

Tech Firm Spheric Launches first PFP NFT collection from India

Mumbai, Maharashtra May 22, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - A new NFT collection of 2.5D artworks that lets the community earn, collect and trade non-fungible tokens (NFTs) is being launched by tech firm Spheric. This is the first PFP collection from India by an established IT firm.

Spheric, a next-generation IT & Blockchain company announced the release of their first exciting & awaited NFT project called SphericX. It is a collection of 8,888 collectible NFTs, one of the first NFT collections of its kind. A community for the people, by the people, and of the people.

SphericX's founders Rajat Arya, Saawan Bohre, and Chirag Arya hope it will become the leading collection from India and one of the leading in the world. The company reveals a roadmap for the community that includes DAOs, Airdrops, Festivals, Funding, Merchandise, and Liquidate NFTs along with a hint of their metaverse and phase 2.0.

The market for non-fungible tokens grew by 21000%. NFT trading volume totalled more than $23 billion last year, reflecting a staggering increase of more than 21,000% from less than $100 million in 2020.

Rajat said: "We are one of the first NFT collections by a Tech firm from India where you can trade, HODL and sell your work and turn it into a passive income opportunity.

"Our collection will be working on empowering the community through the roadmap and future plans. SphericX is created to offer a seamless digital experience for members and holders. An iconic project that is innovative, forward-thinking, and multi-utility-based. We are thrilled to introduce a space that is accessible to everyone and allows expression in the cult.

The idea for a collection transpires from the creation of smart contracts and NFT marketplaces for the clients using the latest advancements in Blockchain and machine learning to enhance the experience.

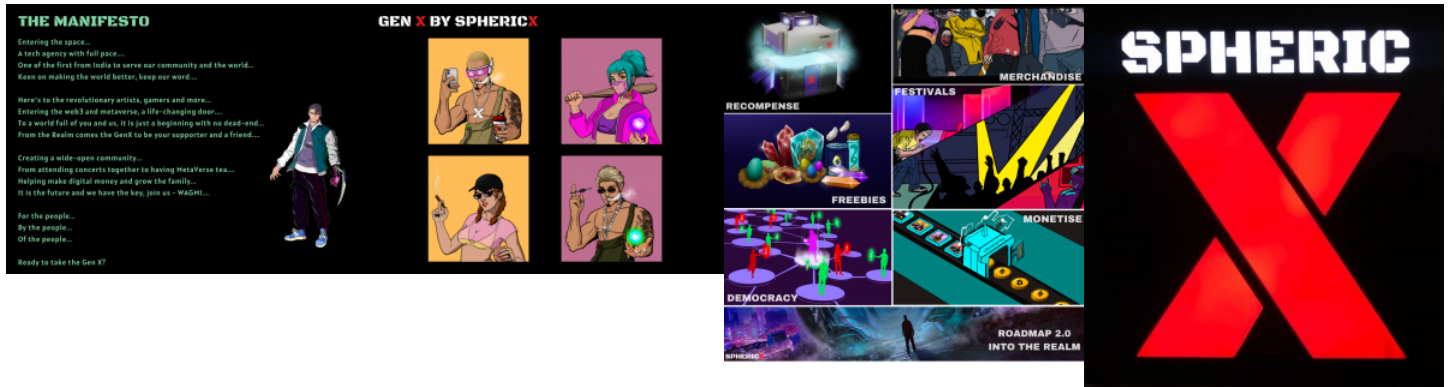

One-of-a-kind collectibles, allow holders to use it across social media and the internet as their profile picture, flaunt their GenX NFTs, and HODL, and receive utilities or trade and earn. It can be used by both beginners and professionals.

Co-founders Saawan Bohre, Chirag Arya & Rajat Arya are all graduates of Engineering & Business backgrounds and have considerable experience both in the IT & blockchain start-up sector and working on the leading and upcoming technologies.

Our motto for the project is to educate and empower Indians to enter and utilize the space to its optimum capacity, whether it's to support your dreams, family, or passion. We want Indians to take the forefront in the NFT space and take advantage of this aggressively since it's a new emerging technology.

Chirag added: "SphericX is our response to the newly recognized need for a trusted & utility-based collection with technological upgradations and plan of action for the community.

"But once we fully delved into the market, we began to understand the untapped opportunity for a trusted collection from India. We've now realized that vision and are so excited to see it release on 24 May 2022 at 7 pm IST."
