

The crypto Buttcoin.cc that you weren't supposed to buy has created a website

In a move that is sure to shock the cryptocurrency world, Buttcoin has announced the launch of their official website: Buttcoin.cc

San Francisco, California Jun 8, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Created to showcase the power of the Algorand blockchain and the ease of creating your very own coin, Buttcoin was never meant to be bought, it was just a Reddit Post to educate people. An enthusiastic community has quickly grown out of a love for Buttcoin and the hope of turning this project into something more. The project has quickly grown and expanded into fun, supportive communities on Reddit, Twitter, and Discord.

The Buttcoin.cc official website offers those interested in Buttcoin the opportunity to learn more about the birth of ButtCoin and its journey so far. There are already copycat tokens created on Algorand and the site provides official links and guides on how to buy Buttcoin, even though we don't recommend it.

"We have been working hard to get things moving forward after the launch of Buttcoin. Millions of tokens were given away to start the project and we felt a website was a necessary thing to create as the next step." says one of the team members of Buttcoin. "We have had some explosive growth since launching including daily gains of 300%, we are grateful to the team and the community for supporting this project."
