

Alpine Air Products Launches New Commercial Air Purifier Systems for Offices and Large Spaces

The Ozone Blaster series supplies clean air to bigger areas by effectively eliminating harmful allergens and microorganisms, keeping employees healthy

Tustin, California Aug 24, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - The leading air purification manufacturer, Alpine Air Products, has recently upped its game with an inexpensive solution to provide your entire staff with the luxury of clean air. Their commercial air purifier systems promise to keep your employees healthy by improving the quality of the air they breathe, which in turn leads to an increase in their productivity and overall well-being.

With a number of different purifiers to choose from, the two that stand out are the Ozone Blaster 2 and the Ozone Blaster 14G. The Ozone Blaster 2 has the capacity to cover an area of 3500 square feet with up to 7000mg/hr of Ozone output. It works on effectively eliminating odors and removing harmful bacteria, viruses, and allergens. What's more, it has self-cleaning plates that will only need a changing post 6000 hours of operation.

The Ozone Blaster 14G, as the name suggests, is an upgraded version of its predecessor, blasting 14,000 milligrams of ozone per hour. Ideally, to be used in areas without any occupants, including animals, this air purifier gets rid of strong smells like that of paint and newly constructed spaces, as well as clearing the air of allergens.

Commercial air purifier systems by Alpine Air come fitted with HEPA filters. Short for High-Efficiency Particulate Air, this purifier forces air through a fine mesh that effectively traps harmful particles. An Ozone generator converts the oxygen it sucks in into Ozone, which is then released into your surroundings, eliminating pollutants, and leaving you with fresh air to breathe. You could even leave the purifier on overnight with a conveniently placed timer, and enter a clean and odor-free office the morning after.

To top it off, what makes them the best commercial air purifiers is their ability to reduce noise pollution, providing you with a conducive work environment.
