Snake back to the peak of casual games

Seoul, South Korea Aug 20, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Times interpret, consumers, evolve, products upgrade, and industries change. From 1992, when Neal Stephenson's novel Snow Crush first described the concept of the metaverse, to 2021 is the big explosion of the metaverse: Facebook changed its name to Meta, Nvidia launched Omniverse, Coca-Cola and a large number of brands entered the metaverse, metaverse has become a topic we have to talk about in our daily work life.

Under the framework of the metaverse, the most inescapable and widespread application in daily lives is games. Games effectively use people's fragmented time, so that life can always have some time for themselves and relax. The passage of time and the types of games have changed, from AAA 3D games and PVP mobile combat games to card games and casual games. Speaking of this, we must talk about our childhood memories ---- Snake, after all, who did not have a Nokia as a child, who did not hold the Nokia for the Snake battle?

As a representative of casual games, Snake has always occupied an exalted position in the industry. SNAKE DAO is a GameFi meta-universe WEB3.0 game that combines NFT, P2E, PVP, Tokenomy, and other game forms and ecosystems. SNAKE DAO has five characters with different levels of NFT attributes bronze, silver, gold, diamond, and legendary "snakes," which can all be bred and synthesized to advance to higher levels. SNAKE DAO has five different levels of characters with NFT attributes: bronze, silver, gold, diamond, and legendary, which can be reproduced, synthesized and progressed to higher levels. In addition to trading NFT, players can also participate in various modes of Snake games, such as endless mode, limited time mode, or as the master to establish an exclusive game room to start the battle.
