

UK Pop Artist Jordan Smithy has new music coming soon!

London, United Kingdom Sep 1, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Jordan Smithy, who featured in Little Mix's BBC One show 'The Search', is all set to release new music soon. This track will follow his 2021 debut single "Keep Me Strong" which mesmerized and inspired audiences both in the UK and across the world. "Keep Me Strong" was dedicated to his Nan who sadly passed away on the 2nd of September 2021. Jordan Smithy has been over the moon, with the response of his last release.

Since the release of "Keep Me Strong" last year, Jordan Smithy has been hailed as one of the top up-and-coming male artists of 2022. The popular musician and reality TV star, who considers music his ministry, has been inundated with attention and congratulatory messages over the past year. His fame has spread and intensified among Europe which has the majority of his fans, with more coming in from America and Asia steadily.

Jordan Smithy won over the English girl group Little Mix's on their BBC One talent competition Little Mix The Search, with his rendition of Lizzo's hit Good as Hell.

In 2022 Jordan worked closely with platinum international producers and made house tracks for the song's "Castle on the Hill" by the incredibly talented Ed Sheeran. "The Nights" by the Swedish DJ, remixer and music producer known professionally as Avicii is available on all streaming platforms.

Jordan's manager has confirmed he is a hidden gem in the industry, and he has a big year to come.
