Ramat Hasharon, Tel Aviv Nov 23, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - 101 Blockchains, a leading provider of blockchain training and certification resources, has launched its Black Friday Sale for 2022. The platform has opened up the Black Friday Sale earlier for learners to access unbelievable discounts on blockchain courses and certification programs.

On the opening of the Black Friday sale, the CEO of 101 Blockchains, Aviv Lichtigstein said, “We are excited to bring back the Black Friday Sale in 2022, one of our long-standing traditions and an opportunity for us to strengthen the blockchain community. Our efforts have been consistently directed at opening up new avenues for learning blockchain for everyone”.

He added, “We welcome you to make the most of our blockchain courses at low prices with Black Friday offers. 101 Blockchains has strived to become a credible platform for blockchain research and education and will continue to do so. Our Black Friday Sale is all but a celebration of our gratitude to the learners interested in exploring new technologies”.

101 Blockchains has been conducting the Black Friday Sale every year since its inception, with unique offers every year. In 2022, the organization has come up with a limited yet highly promising set of deals. Let’s find out how well the 101 Blockchains Black Friday Sale help learners.

Highlights of 101 Blockchains Black Friday Sale 2022

101 Blockchains has built its credibility as a blockchain technology course provider with its extensive assortment of training courses. The platform features training courses on new and innovative trends in the blockchain industry, such as non-fungible tokens (NFTs), decentralized finance (DeFi), Web3, and the metaverse.

The 101 Blockchains Black Friday Sale offers a favorable opportunity for learners interested in blockchain technology to access world-class learning resources at low prices. Learners can find the following two important highlights in the 101 Blockchains Black Friday Sale this year.

- 50% discount on all 101 Blockchains certification programs.
- 25% discount on the membership programs.

The Black Friday Sale opens up a window for availing courses on blockchain at cost-effective prices through discounted membership programs. 101 Blockchains offers unlimited access to its training course library with membership programs, which you can enroll at a 25% discount. Apart from offering an opportunity to learn blockchain to beginners and professionals alike, the Black Friday Sale also offers a valuable 50% discount on certification programs. The facility of accessing blockchain certifications at half the price can support aspiring professionals in proving their skills.

The Black Friday Sale would last beyond Cyber Monday, i.e., 30th November 2022.

What Do 101 Blockchains Achieve with the Black Friday Sale?

The vision of 101 Blockchains focuses on helping every individual learn blockchain, irrespective of their skills or familiarity with blockchain. It has consistently introduced new training courses and certifications on various aspects of blockchain technology. For example, the blockchain training and certification platform has launched new certifications such as Certified NFT Professional, Certified Web 3.0 Professional, and Certified Metaverse Professional. On top of it, 101 Blockchains has also expanded its library of learning resources with the introduction of new training courses and masterclasses.

How does all of this help learners enhance their knowledge and skills in blockchain? The global blockchain market could grow up to $67 billion by 2026 with a CAGR of 68.4%. At the same time, the average annual salary for blockchain professionals ranges between $76,000 and $200,000, depending on the role.

Therefore, interest in blockchain career opportunities has been growing profoundly in recent times. Any aspiring blockchain professional would turn towards a blockchain course for beginners to begin their journey of career development. However, blockchain is a new technology, and the cost of blockchain training resources can be out of reach for students.

The Black Friday Sale on 101 Blockchains could solve such problems by enabling hefty discounts on their certifications and membership program. In a way, 101 Blockchains has honored its vision and commitment to learners with its Black Friday Sale offers.

New Top Courses Launched Recently on 101 Blockchains

As 101 Blockchains makes the Black Friday Sale live, it has ensured that learners can find some newest and trendiest learning resources. Some of the notable additions among their recently launched courses include,

- Crypto Compliance Fundamentals

The training library of 101 Blockchains features over 35+ professional training courses. Apart from the extensive quantity of courses, 101 Blockchains also ensures variety in the topics for courses. An important highlight of the 101 Blockchains courses is the facility of courses for different skill levels. Learners can find a blockchain course for beginners as well as courses for professionals on 101 Blockchains. Another notable inference about the courses on the platform refers to the introduction of training courses on new trending topics and technologies.

101 Blockchains and Its Certification Programs

As a trustworthy blockchain technology course provider, 101 Blockchains also offers professional certifications in blockchain and related technologies. Recently, the platform has launched three new certifications focused on future applications of blockchain. The new certifications focus on NFTs, web 3.0, and the metaverse, which have been generating a lot of hype in the blockchain landscape.

With the Black Friday Sale, learners could register for these new certifications at half the original price. Therefore, the celebrations of Thanksgiving with 101 Blockchains would involve not only courses but also certifications. The certifications serve as viable entities for complementing learning journeys in specific skills or career paths. Most important of all, the new certifications can solidify the career prospects for aspiring blockchain professionals.

Upgrade Your Career with 101 Blockchains Courses and Certifications

The Black Friday Sale 2022 is live on 101 Blockchains, and you can use the sale to your advantage with the right set of best practices. Do not rush into any purchase decision, and make sure you invest adequate time in research. First of all, make a list of learning resources you need for your career.
