Bossier City, Nov 3, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Veteran rock musician and engineer Joseph Anthony Ricciardo has released 4 new songs on the Spotify platform. "The Other Side", "Pause", "Love Me Forever", and "There's One" are the latest singles from the full-length albums, "The Other Side", "deeper", "Grace", and "Zombie Clones", that spawned numerous hits such as "Better Things", “Zombie Clones”, “Listen to My Heart”, “Rabbit Hole” and many others.

The songs display his exceptional musical skills as a multi-instrumentalist, songwriter, and audio engineer and continue his mission to express deep his concern for his audience. “We must remember,” says Ricciardo, “that we are bombarded with distractions purposely designed to keep our lives out of balance. The “things” that they incessantly parade in front of us are not the meaning of life. God is the meaning of life and this is only the testing ground. Eternity awaits you in one place or the other.”

While “The Other Side”, “Pause” and “There's One” display JAR's signature command of his versatility within the rock genre, “Love Me Forever” breaks new ground by exploring a vintage vibe. “For the last 30 years this is the beautiful music I have been looking for my whole life,” he says. “Music need to be beautiful again. There are issues that can only be expressed through rock music. But the beauty that I have been looking for my whole life is in the vocal orchestra music of “Grace”. So I guess we'll be working I yet another genre now.”

For six albums now Joseph has refused to be confined by labels; be they record labels or genre labels. “As an independent musician I can do what the labels refuse to do; acknowledge that people are not genre labels. They listen to everything. They are deeper than that. They are smarter than that. They aren't numbers to control. They listen to whatever is good.”
