Has your water heater stopped producing the warm water you depend on throughout your day? Has your tank sprung a leak that is threatening to damage your home? Water heaters are vital parts of your everyday life, but they're also prone to their fair share of problems. When one happens, it's remarkably easy for the issue to disrupt your life, creating chaos that needs to be sorted out before things can go back to normal. Rather than try to address the issue on your own, Hitech Central Air Inc. (PTAC Experts). offers professional water heater services you can count on, including repairs for broken heaters and replacements for those that have worn out!

At Hitech Central Air Inc. (PTAC Experts)., we can help you with anything your water heater experiences. We service all makes and models, offering comprehensive repairs, replacements, new installations, and more! Plus we make the process easy by helping you choose the perfect replacement system and even helping obtain the proper permits and inspections. Plus we always combine our world-class experience with customer service that exceeds even your loftiest expectations, earning your trust for today and your problems in the future! In short, if we haven't earned your satisfaction, we don't feel as though we've done our job properly, and we want to make things right.

Since 1986, Hitech Central Air Inc. (PTAC Experts). has helped local businesses with commercial heater repair in New York and neighboring areas. We know that you count on your heating system to keep your building comfortable for your employees, customers, and guests. Our NATE-certified technicians provide skilled repair services to restore heat with innovative and cost-effective solutions.
