Edison, New Jersey Nov 22, 2022 (IssueWire.com) - Thanksgiving is approaching soon, and American homeowners have already started preparing to host their Thanksgiving parties. It comes with a lot of cooking, cleaning, and stressing. People use their kitchen appliances extensively during this time; unfortunately, many homeowners experience issues with their kitchen and cleaning appliances. This is the time when a home warranty plan could come in handy. ServicePlus Home Warranty offers plans that cover all critical kitchen appliances along with other home appliances and systems.

Keeping Thanksgiving Day in mind, ServicePlus Home Warranty has come with a new offer that gives $200 off + 2 months and free roof coverage for the homeowners. “we know when a critical kitchen appliance wears down, it creates a big problem for a homeowner, especially during festivities like Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year”- David Seruya, CEO of ServicePlus Home Warranty – “this is the reason we have come up with a new offer that can make a homeowner’s life easy and convenient as our plans cover almost all the critical kitchen appliances.”

When a covered home appliance or system is on the fritz, a ServicePlus home warranty plan helps a homeowner to manage the cost of repairing or replacing the broken item and connect them with a professional service technician at the doorstep.

Unfortunately, many people still misunderstand a home warranty plan with home insurance. Both are different investments. home insurance covers the structural damages to your property due to theft, fire, thunderstorm, flood, and other natural catastrophes. Home insurance does not cover home appliances and systems like a home warranty plan. Having home insurance is a must when you have a mortgage, but on the other hand, a home warranty plan is an optional investment. This is the reason why a lot of home warranty companies are still trying to educate their consumer Boating the difference between a home warranty plan and home insurance.
