Cheyenne, Wyoming Dec 15, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - Spreading the Christmas joy lurking right around the corner, The Tunes Club has now brought the festive cheer to your doorstep with its amazing offers. The company has built up a reputation for itself of providing users with exceptional services throughout the year, and with Christmas coming up they have taken up the spirit a notch higher. The festive offer that has been decided to run from 16th December to 26th December 2022 would be applied to two consecutive packages. Every user would be entitled to a flat 10% off on the subscription of the first two packages, and a flat 15% off on the next two packages. With their seamless and hassle-free services, even new users can smoothly run their promotional campaigns.

Being a Spotify Promotion Company, The Tunes Club offers its clients a purely organic Spotify promotion service through the submission of playlists to various Spotify playlist curators with over 180K Spotify Followers. If an artist wants to get their music Spotify playlist and submit their music to curated Spotify playlists then it provides the best platform for them.

The procedure is extremely easy and user-friendly as well. The company offers four different packages priced at $39, $69, $105, and $169. All users have to do is visit the website, and enter their Spotify link and active email id in the designated area according to their preferred budget and promotional requirements. First-time users can avail of the $39 to try for themselves how the services are improving the engagement of their music. From 16th December to 26th

December 2022 every user is going to receive a 10% and a 15% discount on the packages respectively.

However, once they have been satisfied with the services, they can go for the weekly recurring option to never get their tracks off the playlists of listeners. The weekly recurring option also comes up with a flat 15% discount throughout the year. The site ensures a safe payment gateway option for its users, and payments can be made easily via Paypal, Debit, and Credit Cards. Once the artist has placed an order, the company's team will submit their song to playlists according to the Spotify promotion Package chosen by the artist and there will be visible improvement within a few days.

Some of the bigger packages that the company offers include Content marketing services like Paid Press Release distribution that gets distributed on more than 150 sites and also on Google news, which helps the artist gain massive exposure; Music Reviews, and Music Blogs. They also help generate social media buzz for the artists and give them a considerable increase in view count and engagement. As Spotify has gained popularity among artists as their preferred platform, The Tunes Club aims to create an impact through its curated Spotify playlist promotion on the same.

Over the years the company has successfully provided immaculate promotional benefits to numerous artists. What sets it apart is that it enables users to choose the audience based on their interests. They can also get their music promoted locally and across the globe, depending on their geographical preference. In case of any arising issues, clients can easily contact their support executives who are available 24*7.

Clients around the world have stood testimony to the services of the company with one of them recently saying, “Over thousands of listeners and an excellent press release distribution service - this was really amazing! I'd love to avail Spotify promotion services again for my next released music.”

Avail of the Christmas offer now to get your music the audience base it deserves at really budget-friendly rates and discounts of up to 15%.
