Gastroenterology Associates of New Jersey is an integrated group practice composed of a team of highly skilled gastroenterologists. As part of their dedication to complete care, the board-certified physicians and professional staff will effectively evaluate, diagnose, and treat acute and chronic gastrointestinal conditions and diseases.

With locations throughout four counties in northern New Jersey, the multidisciplinary practice offers coordinated and comprehensive services with an emphasis on personalized care for patients of all ages and activity levels. In addition, it is affiliated with five ambulatory surgery centers where advanced procedures are performed in a warm, comfortable environment on an outpatient basis.

Academically, Dr. Abraham received her medical degree from the University Hospital in Newark, New Jersey, and her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the Albany College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences in Albany, New York. She then went on to an internship and residency at NYP/Weill Cornell Medical Center and her fellowship in gastroenterology at New York University.

Dedicated to excellence, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine and gastroenterology by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Throughout her medical training, Dr. Abraham has conducted several presentations on various topics. She has hospital affiliations with St. Joseph's University Medical Center in Paterson, St. Joseph's Wayne Medical Center, Hackensack UMC Mountainside Hospital, and Chilton Medical Center.

Gastroenterology is the branch of medicine focused on the digestive system and its disorders. A gastroenterologist is a physician who has extensive training in the diagnosis and treatment of disorders related to the esophagus, stomach, small intestines, colon, liver, pancreas, and biliary system.

In honor of her clinical expertise, Dr. Abraham is the recipient of the Patients' Choice Award (2016, 2017, 2018), Compassionate Doctor Recognition (2016, 2017, 2018), and On-Time Doctor Award (2018).

On a more personal note, she enjoys staying active by hiking, biking, and swimming. She also loves spending free time with her three sons and husband.
