Get to know Dermatologist Dr. Ryan Freeland, who serves patients in Wyoming, Michigan.

New York City, New York Jan 11, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Named a Top Doc by Grand Rapids Magazine, Dr. Freeland is a board-certified dermatologist whose clinical interests include medical and surgical as well as pediatric dermatology. He considers it a privilege to care for patients and their families, providing dermatologic care at Wolverine Dermatology in Wyoming, Michigan.

As the Owner, Dr. Freeland has actualized his vision of building a dermatologic and skin cancer center of excellence that seeks to joyfully deliver efficient, respectful, compassionate healthcare of the highest quality to patients. He enjoys practicing all aspects of dermatology, with a particular interest in skin cancer screening, procedural dermatology, and the treatment of psoriasis, acne, connective tissue diseases, and genetic dermatitis.

A native of Portage, Michigan, Dr. Freeland graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from Wheaton College in Illinois where he majored in biology as well as Biblical and theological studies. He then earned his medical degree from Loyola University Chicago's Stritch School of Medicine.

After completing a one-year internship with the Grand Rapids Medical Education and Research Center, he was activated into military service where he spent 12 years on active duty with the U.S. Air Force. He served for six years as a flight surgeon before completing his residency training while on active duty in San Antonio at Wilford Hall Ambulatory Surgical Center and Brooke Army Medical Center. His duty stations included bases in Florida, Germany, Texas, and Washington, DC.

Recognized as a Fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology (FAAD), the doctor is board-certified in dermatology by the American Board of Dermatology (ABD). The ABD is a voluntary, non-profit, private, autonomous organization formed for the primary purpose of protecting the public interest by establishing and maintaining high standards of training, education, and qualifications for physicians rendering care in dermatology.

A 16-year veteran of the United States Air Force, Dr. Freeland has deployed 10 times in the service of our great country. He spent several tours in the Middle East, including multiple deployments to Afghanistan and Iraq.

Most recently, he served on the teaching faculty at the dermatology residency program at Walter Reed Medical Center and carried an academic appointment at the military medical school in Bethesda, Maryland.

Dermatology is the branch of medicine dealing with the skin. The skin is the largest organ of the body. Dermatology is a specialty with both medical and surgical aspects. A dermatologist is a specialist doctor who manages skin diseases and deals with both internal and external causes and some cosmetic concerns involving the skin. Dermatological duties include taking consultations, providing screening tests, and undertaking non-invasive surgical procedures.

A dynamic teacher and combat-proven physician, Dr. Freeland is widely recognized by colleagues and superiors for his leadership capability, performance in austere and high-pressure medical environments, interpersonal communication, and passion for teaching patients, students, and residents.

In his personal time, he enjoys running, traveling, SCUBA diving, and watching college football.
