

Betty Moon Releases New Single “Boilermaker”

The LA producer and songwriter unveils a bold, larger than life cover of the 2021 Royal Blood single.

Los Angeles, California Feb 15, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - Betty Moon has been busy in the studio working on new music for an upcoming to-be-announced album, and in the meantime has dropped an exciting new cover of “Boilermaker” on streaming platforms. Her take on the popular Royal Blood track layers her sultry voice with slight nuances musically to make the hypnotic, groove-laced track her own. The single is her first release since the early 2022 album ‘Undercover’, which was a compilation of 10 favorite Betty Moon cover songs.

Over the past few years during the pandemic era, Betty Moon has managed to stay busier than ever in her Hollywood-based studio and used the time to not only release three albums (Little Miss Hollywood, Cosmicoma, and Undercover), but also drive straight ahead into new original music to release later in 2023. “Boilermaker is one of my favorite rock tracks of the modern era, and I was excited to lean into it with my own swagger,” says Moon. “While I prep some of this new material I wanted to put something fresh out there for the fans, and I hope you enjoy the song as much as I did making it for you all.”

Moon’s music has earned widespread media support and praise from Billboard, American Songwriter,

Celebmix, Consequence of Sound, Discobelle, New Noise, Hype Machine, Substream, Spill, and dozens of others. She continues to blend elements of her classic sound and modern electronic/pop directions to create music that The Other Side Reviews says “grips you and takes you on a sonic journey” and “covers everything she has to offer from old-school rock to soulful downtempo songs to electronic-pop blasts.”
