

With Two New Songs to His Credit, Impar Brands his Name into the Minds of Music Lovers

The two new heart-warming songs 'Tu pourras la jouer' and 'C'est donc ça la vie', the talented artist Impar turns out to be a treasure trove of love anthems.

Paris, Feb 22, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - When a musical piece pierces the soul of listeners, washing them over with tempestuous emotional waves, it is proof of the sublimity of that piece, and that is exactly the case with 'Tu pourras la jouer' and 'C'est donc ça la vie' by the talented artist Impar. The artist pours his heart out in both songs and the emotions resonate deep within the minds of the listeners, creating an unforgettable music experience that warms them from within. Though varied in their theme and production, both the songs carry the earnestness and authenticity that makes the singer stand out.

'Tu pourras la jouer' enchants with the opening piano while the mellifluous voice of the singer is like the soothing rain on a dry, hot day. The song almost has a therapeutic quality to it that breaks the language barrier, replenishes listeners and makes them fall in love with it on the first listen, and keeps them coming back for more. 'C'est donc ça la vie' follows a similar mellow soulful vibe that complements the intensity of emotions that the voice of the singer radiates. It is a song about love, heartbreak, missing the individual one loves the most, and above all, wishing the best for them under all circumstances. The track remains relevant in every era and therein lies its brilliance.

In both of his songs, Impar remains true to his belief: “L'amour est le seul remède du monde” or “Love is the only remedy in the world”. His songs give listeners a peek at the vulnerability of the artist, enabling them to form a deeper bond with him and understand his music better. His other songs like ‘Elle me court après’ and ‘C'est ça l'amour’ also attest to the artist’s creative caliber, and strikes just the right balance between the array of genres including rap and pop. Having released his latest music video called "A.I.", the artist plans on giving his music a new art direction in the upcoming months. Check out his brilliant tracks on Spotify.
