Shenzhen, Guangdong Mar 1, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - FOSSiBOT, a new brand from China, announces that they are launching their first huge battery rugged smartphone FOSSiBOT F101. Many people may not heard about this brand before. FOSSiBOT brand was established in Shenzhen, China in July 2022 by a team with more than 8 years of experience in power station and rugged smartphones. FOSSiBOT released the portable power station FOSSiBOT F2400 in November last year, now it is the time for their first rugged smartphone FOSSiBOT F101.

The FOSSiBOT F101 is an IP68/IP69/MIL-STD-810G certified rugged smartphone which is water-proof, dust-proof, and drop-resistance. For the design, the most obvious feature must be the huge speaker grille on the back top where the rear camera is located. As a rugged smartphone, the speaker is of course IP68 waterproof. The speaker comes with a 36mm diameter, bulky 11.5 CC sound cavity, and 3.5W peak power, offering up to 123dB loudness which is the world's loudest speaker.

Besides the big speaker, the FOSSiBOT F101 takes a 10,600mAh built-in li-polymer battery under the hood, with a smaller 5.45 inch HD+ display and low power consumption Helio A22 quad-core processor, F101 will work longer than expected. If you take it outside and only use it for standby, it can last 1050 hours which is nearly 44 days.

FOSSiBOT F101 is running at 4GB of RAM and offers 64GB internal storage, it supports 128GB expansion. It also comes with an 8MP front camera and 24MP PDAF+5MP+0.3MP rear camera which is normally not seen on other same memory smartphones. In the market, there are many 4GB+64GB smartphones, mostly priced around $140. However, according to FOSSiBOT, the super early bird price offered at its global first sale may be below $100. This is really astonishing price based on the specifications.
