

Paldo Launches New Angry Birds Energy Drink from South Korea

Seoul, South Korea Mar 5, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - South Korean beverage company Paldo has introduced a new soda based on the popular Angry Birds franchise. The Angry Birds Soda features the familiar red bird character on the can and is infused with 1000mg of Taurine for an added energy boost.

The drink, which is being marketed as Red Taurine Soda, is caffeine-free and has a mild, slightly sweet taste with no aftertaste. It is being compared to popular UK drinks like Dandelion Burdock and root beer.

The Angry Birds Soda is the latest addition to the franchise's expanding line of merchandise, which includes everything from toys to food items. Fans of the game will surely be excited to try this new drink.

The Angry Birds franchise, created by Finnish company Rovio Entertainment, is known for its popular mobile game series featuring a flock of colorful birds on a mission to save their eggs from green-colored pigs.

The Angry Birds Soda is now available for purchase at local convenience stores and supermarkets in South Korea. Don't miss out on the chance to try this new drink inspired by one of the world's most beloved game franchises!
