

Tarps Now Issues Guide for Best Privacy Screens and Windscreens

Company issues informational guide focused on best selections for privacy, shade and wind protection

The logo for Tarps Now features the word "TARPS" in a large, bold, dark blue sans-serif font. Below it, the word "NOW" is written in a red, outlined sans-serif font, with a registered trademark symbol (®) to its upper right.

Benton Harbor, Michigan Mar 7, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Tarps Now® is pleased to announce the release of a new informational guide for consumers that answers the question “What are the Best Privacy Screens and Windscreens” used for protecting facilities, people, structures, and areas from the sun, wind, rain, snow, onlookers or other hazards.

Most often used in the context of being affixed to chain link fencing, Privacy Screens, Windscreens, and Shade Tarps create important protective barriers that can be used in a variety of residential settings, businesses, and sports fields as well as at commercial applications such as construction sites and industrial locations.

Mesh tarps can also be used for these applications providing not only privacy but also acting as an effective dust barrier during construction projects. In addition, there are a number of products for construction and industrial operations that include safety debris netting, scaffold debris netting, fire retardant netting, mesh tarps, and containment tarps.

This article provides examples of similar specialized products for construction and other industrial applications that are available for a wide spectrum of protective and effective uses.
