Morris was diagnosed with an incurable and inoperable stage four cholangiocarcinoma (Bile Duct Cancer) in July of 2021, and just given 9 to 15 months to live. Eight days after that diagnosis, he decided to found Dying Defiantly to help others facing a terminal diagnosis, by providing free support and counseling for the individuals, their families, as well as their survivors. Dying Defiantly is proud to support the Hope for the Warriors Program who is the beneficiary of the Dream Chopper contest, and is asking people to come alongside them and vote daily.

“If we win this, Dying Defiantly will use 100% of the proceeds from the custom chopper auction to help others and their families stricken with a terminal diagnosis.
