In regards to his educational background, Dr. Corben graduated from Arizona State University (ASU) with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology. While at ASU, he did extensive research in the area of Cell Biology, specializing in Human Corneal Wound Healing. He then attained his Doctor of Optometry degree from The Inter-American School of Optometry in 2002.

With his training and knowledge of the cornea, Dr. Corben takes special pride in teaching his patients critical information pertaining to refractive surgery. He is the past president of the San Fernando Valley Optometric Society.

Optometry is a healthcare profession that involves examining the eyes and applicable visual systems for defects or abnormalities, as well as diagnosing and managing eye disease. Optometrists are healthcare professionals who provide primary eye care through comprehensive eye examinations to detect and treat various visual abnormalities and eye diseases. Being a regulated profession, an optometrist's scope of practice may differ depending on the location. Thus, disorders or diseases detected outside the treatment scope of optometry (i.e. those requiring certain surgical interventions) are referred out to relevant medical professionals for proper care, more commonly to ophthalmologists who are physicians that specialize in the tertiary medical and surgical care of the eye. Optometrists typically work closely together with other eye care professionals, such as ophthalmologists and opticians, to deliver quality and efficient eye care to the general public.

Passionate about vision care, Dr. Corben has been a guest lecturer for the College of the Canyons Nursing School and has given lectures for the Coopervision Contact lens company. He now actively spends time in the Santa Monica area providing free eye exams for the homeless.

Having won several awards in optometry, Dr. Corben is the recipient of the prestigious "2009 Young Optometrist of the Year in California" by the California Optometric Association. Most recently, he was voted the Ultimate Optometrist in Santa Clarita for 2020 and 2021 by readers of Elite Magazine and The Signal newspaper.

When he is not working, he enjoys cycling, and most importantly, spending time with his wife and two children. He is fluent in both English and Spanish.
