Artiz Lee LLC is determined to inspire others' creativity through reliability, self-love, and comfortable fashion globally. With this mission, the company is changing the vision of the fashion and clothing industry around the world. Through its official website, customers can find all the products in the same place. They can simply order online and the company will ship the products to make sure to reach to doorsteps of every customer. With simple and flexible payment methods, global citizens are able to purchase in many ways. Its latest product lineup is an authentic, quality-driven comfort line that pays homage to the US coastlines as well as African-American comfort culture. Therefore, not just the fashion industry but the brand is also enriching the local and niche communities.

Artiz Lee is inspired by his grandfather Robert Pillow Jr. who always dressed to impress regardless of age or occasion. Observing him, Artiz realized that outward appearance is a key ingredient to developing first impressions but attire doesn't always reflect a person's true character. Artiz also has a philosophy towards life that can be embraced through every aspect of his various art forms. His thoughts, experiences, and love for poetry can be found in his book 'Unspoken Reality: Lessons Learned' published in December 2013. He is now exploring his philosophy through his clothing products and footwear that make one feel confident, and comfortable, and offers a reason to step outside the lines. The brand understands the importance of self-love and how it is vital to not only take care of oneself in order to spread love and positive energy to others.

Artiz Lee, the founder, and designer behind the project is a true artist in all forms and manner. Hailing from his origin in Anchorage, Alaska, he is greatly inspired by winter clothing and apparel as well as nature. His fashion and brand ideas are based on colors, designs, and culture from the northwest region along with the greater influence of the Alaskan region. While spending time in the DMV area, he came up with the idea of blending West and East Coast styles. The true meaning behind creating the latest product lineup is to embrace the push for self-love and self-worth. While growing up, he was exposed to an environment where one cannot truly fit in. While discovering his own identity, the purpose of creating this brand sparked. With his love for shoes and clothes, he tried to create a brand that can make people feel more confident in themselves around others. Therefore, it offers a comfortable lineup that people can cherish with everyone. Visit <http://artizlee.com/> to know more.
