

Meet The Rising Stars Of The Forum Celebrity Podcast

Shelton, Connecticut Jul 29, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Are you a lover of film, television or music? Do you enjoy listening to interviews of your favorite Hollywood celebrities? How about the latest in pop culture news and trends? Well, if you are looking for a fun, positive and informative podcast to listen to on your way to and from work—or school, then we have the show for you.

Meet The Hosts

James Patrick and Florence Carmela are the hosts of The Forum Celebrity Podcast, a popular pop culture podcast on the JAMPA Media Network. They talk about the latest in celebrity news, the film industry, pop culture and media events. They have interviewed several celebrities in the last four years such as reality TV star Colin Macy O'Toole from Below Deck Med, Actor Steven Schirripa from The Sopranos and Blue Bloods, reality TV star Dr. Michelle Oakley from Yukon Vet, Actor EJ Williams from The Wonder Years reboot and several other celebrities in the television, film and music industry.

Creating What You Want

This podcast was created out of the love for radio broadcasting and working in the media. James and Florence both have experience working in broadcasting, James appearing on several national sports media outlets; including ESPN affiliates and CBS Radio. Florence, working for Cumulus Media at WEBE108 and WICC600 in the Promotions Department appearing at the station's live-broadcast media events. James created "The Forum" out of a need to have their own show and be their own bosses. Florence had a dream and James was an integral part of implementing that vision and bringing it to fruition.

While working in radio with legendary radio DJ's and personalities in Connecticut, Florence was told by her Radio Station Manager at the time "you need to CREATE what you want" when hoping for an on-air position that wasn't available to her at the time. Florence remembers hearing several times that "if the opportunity isn't there for you, you'll need to create it for yourself." This is the mantra Florence lives by.

James made sure he created and produced a show for the two of them where she could live out her dream and the two could have a show of their own to interview celebrities, talk pop culture news and apply all that they have learned over the years as social media marketers. James was able to use his skills and connections from radio and the sports world, as well as amass a large following on social media to create and market "The Forum" and make it the major success it has become in such a short time.

Living The Dream

The Forum Celebrity Podcast can be heard on over 120 different podcast platforms including; iHeartRadio, Spotify, Apple, Google and YouTube. In March of 2022, "The Forum" was voted #11 by it's podcast listeners for the 'HOT 50' in Podcast Magazine, which featured heiress and reality star Paris Hilton as the magazine's cover model.

James and Florence are also Contributing Writers for NewsBreak, a national news company where they both have written several articles that have gone viral. As professional media personalities they have both been invited to several local, as well as national media and red carpet events.

Please follow James and Florence on social media for their latest celebrity interviews, pop culture news and articles.
