

A law school graduate, Lysette Tetlow has established herself as a key figure in helping start-up businesses grow online

Digital marketing company 'Attraction Hustle Ltd.' was started by Lysette Tetlow during the pandemic to help small businesses to make their presence felt online.

London, United Kingdom Jun 2, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - Lysette Tetlow is a business college graduate with a law degree. She started the social media advertising agency 'Attraction Hustle' during the pandemic. The main target of the social media marketing agency is to help small businesses in the beauty, fashion, and lifestyle industry to grow their brand. Since the pandemic, there has been a rise in the number of start-ups, and Lysette wants to help such companies make their presence felt digitally.

Lysette initially started her business in London, UK, and has now expanded her horizons to Singapore. She is the first generation to graduate with a law degree. She wants to become a digital marketing educator in the near future.

“I worked in the corporate industry and then shifted to starting my own business. I am extremely passionate about supporting and empowering women through digital marketing and personal development. I love to help women reach their goals-be personal or professional. Everyone can achieve their goals if they get proper guidance and support,” said Lysette.

She also offers training courses for individuals who want to enhance their knowledge of using social media efficiently for growing their businesses.

Some of the services offered by Attraction Hustle include social media management, social strategy sessions, upscale your socials, website building, product photography, and others.

The process starts with an initial discovery call which helps the team to get a deeper understanding of the business and the problems it is facing. A common goal is set and to achieve that goal, Lysette Tetlow and her team at Attraction Hustle come up with the right plan which they execute to perfection.

The team at Attraction Hustle, along with Lysette, is committed to providing the best services to clients in the social media industry, backed by world-class customer service and support.

Speaking to the media, Vicky Leigh who is one of many satisfied customers of Attraction Hustle shared her experience working with Lysette and her team “Lysette is amazing; she listened to the ideas I had for my business and how I wanted it to look, and she made it happen and look so professional. I'm thrilled with how my Instagram page looks now and the daily posts are just brilliant. This saves me so much hard work and time to allow me to do my job while Lysette takes care of the social media advertising side.”

Attraction Hustle has partnered with non-profitable organisations like One Tree Planted and Waves For Water.
