procedures such as facelift, rhinoplasty, eyelid surgery, brow lifts, Botox, fillers, non-invasive laser resurfacing, and chemical peels.

Earning his undergraduate degree in Biomedical Sciences at the University of Montreal in Canada, he attended the prestigious University of Limerick in Ireland, where he graduated with his medical degree. Following his medical training, he pursued further specialization through rigorous residencies and fellowships at renowned institutions. He completed his general surgery residency at Johns Hopkins Hospital and the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC), followed by fellowships in hand & microsurgery at Mount Sinai Hospital, and plastic & reconstructive surgery at the University of Miami Hospital.

Subsequent to his education, the doctor attained board certification in general surgery, plastic surgery, and hand surgery through the American Board of Surgery. Furthermore, he is trained in Advanced Trauma Life Support and Advanced Cardiac Life Support.

Continuously advancing his efforts, Dr. Samaha is an active member of the American College of Surgeons and the American Medical Association. His contributions to the medical field have earned him recognition, including the prestigious Alpha Omega Alpha (AOA) award.

As an ardent advocate for the advancement of cosmetic plastic surgery, he has contributed extensively to the scientific community through numerous published scientific articles and textbook chapters. He serves as a peer-reviewer for esteemed journals such as Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery and Craniofacial Surgery, where he evaluates and provides expert feedback on cutting-edge research and surgical innovations before they are disseminated.

Dr. Samaha's unwavering dedication to his patients' well-being is exemplified by his refusal to adopt a "cookie-cutter" approach. He believes in personalized care, prioritizing the uniqueness of each individual and tailoring procedures to their specific needs. Driven by a relentless pursuit of perfection, he avoids shortcuts and continuously strives to enhance his techniques. In fact, he has even invented and patented several surgical instruments that he utilizes to refine his craft.

Plastic surgery is a surgical specialty involving the restoration, reconstruction, or alteration of the human body. It can be divided into two main categories – reconstructive surgery and cosmetic surgery. A plastic surgeon's primary responsibility is performing surgical and non-surgical procedures, and they use a variety of reparative and reconstructive techniques to get the job done.
