

Kent Staker, Recognized by BestAgents.us as a 2023 Top Agent

Kent brings his experience, family values, and extensive knowledge of South Florida's culture and beauty to his unique brokerage.

New York City, New York Jul 10, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - A licensed real estate broker, Kent is the President & Founder of Luxury Realty Associates, LLC in Jensen Beach, Florida.

Whether clients are first-time buyers looking to invest wisely in their lifestyle and financial futures, or seasoned homeowners now seeking high-end luxury homes, partnering with each of them to make their dreams a reality is the fulfillment of Kent's own life's mission and the vision statement of Luxury Realty Associates, LLC.

His extensive knowledge of the area and culture—the educational, medical, professional, shopping, and recreational opportunities—enables him to perfectly prioritize and match clients' desires and needs to advantageous homes and neighborhoods. Excelling in related areas of finance and accounting offers clients his unique and specialized ability to advise on financial resources and decisions, and to ascertain the quality of materials, craftsmanship, design, and value of any home being considered by potential buyers.

In 1974, Kent's father moved his family to Jensen Beach and added his architect-builder talents to Kent's grandfathers who were already designing, building, and developing real estate in the Treasure Coast area. Kent grew up studying blueprints of luxury custom homes at the breakfast table and using all the tools of the trade to bring them to life at job sites. He experienced the satisfaction of turning those plans into fulfilled dreams for many happy clients.

In 2008, encouraged by changes in the construction market, Kent expanded into the real estate market and discovered he was also gifted at finding existing homes that matched clients' needs and dreams.

His years of experience in job costing and project management supplemented that ability. His interest in the sustainability and environmental impact of buildings and developments on the complex yet fragile beauty of South Florida led him to successfully earn a "Green Builder" certification from Florida State University.

When Kent founded Luxury Realty Associates, he had two goals in mind: to help clients successfully realize their dreams of quality living and to offer agents with a similar mindset and goals a place to serve buyers with integrity and dedication.

"I love this community because it offers great activities for young families and older families alike such as boating and fishing, surfing and diving, and the population is not too dense. Schools are great and shopping is diverse, and never too distant from travel arteries. Florida is a great state to live in and has a wide range of history to explore" expressed Kent.

Upon meeting him, clients will quickly learn three things - he smiles easily and often; he can tell you whatever you'd like to know about the multiple benefits of living in South Florida; and his primary and proudest title is "family man."

Husband to Sarah, father of six amazing children, spoiler of two playful dogs, son of an architect-builder, grandson of two grandfathers who helped develop the Treasure Coast area, and nephew of a well-known local custom builder, Kent's love of his family and his legacy permeates every aspect of his professional life.

Due to his love for all things aquatic, Kent is an experienced scuba diver, boater, and fisherman, and knows every beach in the area. He is frequently accompanied on some or all of those pursuits by his wife, one or more of his children, and even his furry, four-legged companions. Both Pepper and Blu are happy to announce anyone's arrival on their outdoor adventures with loud barks and wagging tails. His family also participates in Kent's personal involvement in local religious and charitable organizations that actively serve the needs of local communities.

He attributes his success to his attention to detail, his faith in God, treating others with respect, and continuously striving for excellence.
