Singapore, Singapore Aug 29, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - CHI innovate on July 28, 2023, took the centre stage to bridge both the Health and Social Care sectors witnessed by, Guest-of-Honour, Minister Ong Ye Kung, Singapore's Minister for Health, with the launch of the Health and Social Change Academy to embrace digital innovations which are crucial to complement Healthier Singapore, which focuses on prevention and population health.

ARQon International Business Group had their soft launch of CuraNation during the prestigious CHI Innovate event, bringing care to Singapore by offering preventive tests and healthcare services at home with a dedicated group from the MedTech industry. The soft launch showcased CuraNation's commitment to add value to the healthcare industry, which is set to redefine the healthcare landscape by offering a comprehensive home healthcare service and introducing early preventive tests for public awareness on a single platform with healthcare providers, the MedTech industry, and other stakeholders.

CuraNation aims to help the public have alternative healthcare brought to their homes and early awareness of the preventive tests and medical products available with the advancement of technology from biotechnology to AI. Home care services such as nursing, physiotherapy, traditional medicine treatment, and even mother-baby care will assist those who are inconvenient or unable to go out of their home or post-hospitalization. With the growth of MedTech innovation in Singapore, the expertise that ARQon Group has been providing to many companies for product approval and many early preventive screening tests being approved by HSA should be shared with the public. As such, the MedTech and healthcare industries have gathered these solutions together in a platform to make them available to the public.

After the COVID pandemic, public are now used to order service to home for convenience and to avoid visit to the hospital to reduce risk of infection if possible. As aging population has increased and several critical challenges faced by the healthcare sector, CuraNation home healthcare services are made to be more efficient, cost-effective, and patient-centred to the public. With our extensive network of high-quality healthcare providers, including doctors and specialists and Singapore being the MedTech innovation leaders in Asia, many early preventive test and medical innovation products, even rental device option is available to the public.

The initiative also emphasizes the importance of early detection and educates the public to react early to prevent late-stage health complications and to cultivate early adoption of a healthier lifestyle. Prevention is better than cure, and that's the ethos driving our early illness detection feature. This proactive approach empowers you to act at an early stage when interventions are most effective. We believe that health is a holistic concept, encompassing physical, mental, and emotional well-being.

The soft launch garnered interest from industry experts, and potential partners by CuraNation's approach to healthcare services. The feedback and insights gathered during the event will be instrumental in refining CuraNation platform further before its official launch.
