From fairy tales to common prosperity, Pratik Sarkar, an international student from Nepal, used his lens to record another way of learning in Jinhua city. He said: "This trip to Jinxi in Jinhua Development Zone opened another door for him to understand traditional Chinese culture.

He recorded 6 different areas and villages in Jinxi in the camera. He said: The charm of Jiufeng Mountain is the crystallization of the wisdom of the Chinese people over the past thousands of years, and the mysterious power of Yi Village under the ten thousand-year-old rice fields seemed to take him into the ancient times. In the time and space tunnel, an inconspicuous village has a 600-year spiritual inheritance of family mottos. You can explore the thousand-year context of brick carving art in buildings with Chinese characteristics, and you can also find the taste of Chinese national culture in fireworks and delicacies. In China In ancient times, the borderland between the Yue Kingdom and the Gumie Kingdom witnessed the magnificent development of Chinese villages towards common prosperity.
