

Michael Eichler Recognized by BestAgents.us as a 2023 Top Agent

With a diverse skill set and commitment to excellence, Michael has proven he's well-equipped to help clients achieve their investment goals.

New York City, New York Sep 1, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Michael is an ambitious and driven professional who excels at working with real estate investors. He's brokered with HomeSmart Realty Advisors, taking great satisfaction in helping others find their ideal investment solutions through vacation rentals.

Known for his strong communication skills and his investor-friendly approach, Michael is one of the more sought-after investor-focused real estate agents. He specializes in assisting clients with buying, selling, and renting their short-term rental investment (STR) properties in the Poconos, PA vacation market.

Originally gaining traction in the metro area of Philadelphia, Michael has honed his skills through years of experience in hospitality, which has led to much of his success as an agent. His expertise includes negotiations, an eye for detail, and a good base understanding of home renovations.

Michael strives to curate a hands-on and personalized experience with each and every client he works with. This is achieved by guiding his clients through the process of identifying and analyzing investment properties for their revenue potential. One of the benefits of working with Michael is the unabridged access you will get to his years of experience in STR. His one-stop-shop team is a big player in the Poconos market and can assist clients with sourcing, designing, and managing their investments. A team that can cater to any client's needs.

Michael credits much of his success to the support of his team leader and mentor, Jonathan Dempsey, and being surrounded by many like-minded people. Working together to disrupt the Poconos vacation rental market, "The Live Free Team," has earned the belief that they can overcome any obstacles or challenges that come to them.

Despite his busy schedule, Michael enjoys the flexibility of the real estate profession, allowing him to maintain a healthy, balanced lifestyle. He still finds the time to enjoy life and "Live Free" - the motto he and his team around him live by.

Outside of work, you may find him hiking, skiing, playing disc golf, or on the lake taking part in water sports.
