One of his key principles in patient care is a commitment to shared decision-making. He places a strong emphasis on understanding each patient's unique needs, preferences, and lifestyle, using this information to guide and optimize their treatment plans. As Dr. Weiner puts it, "In working with a patient, we are able to devise a treatment plan that will maximize recovery while minimizing inconvenience." The highlight of his work is helping patients recover from injury and return to their favorite activities.

A 2012 graduate of the New York Institute of Technology College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dr. Weiner went on to perform his residency in orthopedic surgery at Plainview Hospital. He followed this up with an orthopedic shoulder and elbow fellowship at Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Weiner's dedication to treating upper extremity conditions is rooted in years of specialized training and research. As a testament to his success, the doctor is board-certified in orthopedic surgery by the American Osteopathic Board of Orthopedic Surgery (AOBOS). The AOBOS is an organization that provides board certification to qualified Doctors of Osteopathic Medicine (DOs) who specialize in the medical and surgical treatment of disorders of the musculoskeletal system (orthopedic surgeons).

In affiliation with several professional organizations, Dr. Weiner is an active member of the American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons and the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons.
