

Shanghai's Freight Futures Market Surges Forward, Garnering Global Attention

Shanghai, China Oct 16, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - [Shanghai, 13/10/2023] – The Shanghai International Energy Exchange (INE) has witnessed a remarkable surge in its freight futures market, capturing the attention of industry leaders, traders, and investors worldwide. As Shanghai takes the lead in shaping the future of global shipping logistics, industry experts like Keven Chen, Founder of ForwarderOne, are closely watching this development.

The Shanghai INE has emerged as a prominent player in the global commodity futures market, providing a platform for the trading of freight derivatives. These innovative financial instruments enable traders and stakeholders to hedge against the risks and fluctuations inherent in the international shipping industry. As global trade continues to evolve, the significance of this market is rapidly increasing.

Keven Chen, a veteran in FBA logistics and shipping industry, expressed his perspective on Shanghai's expanding role in shaping the future of freight trading: "Shanghai's growing influence in the freight futures market is a testament to China's commitment to becoming a key player in global trade. The ability to trade freight futures presents an opportunity for businesses to better manage the uncertainties in shipping logistics, and this can have far-reaching implications for companies engaged in international trade."

ForwarderOne, a leading logistics company specialising in FBA Fowarding with extensive experience in global supply chain management, recognizes the potential of the Shanghai freight futures market to
