London, United Kingdom Jan 6, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - As an author with more than 40 books across a plethora of genres in both fiction and non-fiction and an association with various charitable organizations, His Excellency, Sir Patrick Bijou has always been someone who is so much more than meets the eye.

His reverence across the world of banking and finance has been the result of immense influence through his upbringing, which he is no stranger to and even offers credit for. Moving to England at the age of five after being born in Guyana, South America, the shift in cultures and exposure was one of the biggest turning points in his life at a very early age.

With his primary education in some of the most well-reputed schools in London, he was already a part of the 'system' quickly. MBA being his first degree, he found himself unable to pursue it, owing to the lack of MBAs at that time. His Excellency decided to move to the United States of America and completed his postgraduate in Business Studies, proceeding with his MBA in Economics and International Banking from Camden College.

His first brush with Wall Street and his getting hooked to it was what the stars had aligned themselves to, which Sir Patrick Bijou discovered during the twelve years he spent in New York for his formative. Over the next few years, he worked at important designations with Deutsche Bank and Wells Fargo, both at Wall Street, developing a keen eye in the area of debt capital markets, structured products, and private placements.

Sir Patrick and his insatiable intrigue to keep learning still makes him think of himself as a student of economics and business. His degree biography reads MBAs, BAs from different fields and also a PhD, which are testament enough to his wisdom in the present day.

His Excellency, with his lateral thinking, also led the trade desk at Deutsche Bank for developing distribution structures and asset origination. Today, he is also actively involved as a venture capitalist giving his backing to multiple startups over the last several years. Asset management is another domain where his experience has come to the fore, where he runs two major funds.

As far as clients also go, Sir Patrick rewards them with the highest return ratios in the sector on their capital investments. His Excellency's awards and recognitions are not a few, but too many for a single individual, which is, to put it politely, the stuff of folklore.

With philanthropic interests, Sir Patrick is an aware citizen too, who is very vigilant about the welfare of the society at large as well and is a part of multiple charities and communities at large. Sir Patrick Bijou is a true visionary and will always be a huge asset to the finance and banking sector for years to come.
