With this understanding, the institute has meticulously integrated professional drawing classes tailored explicitly for students enrolled in graphic design course and animation courses in Kolkata. Within these specialized classes, budding 2D & 3D artists and graphic designers find a platform to refine their craft, sharpen their techniques, broaden their perspectives, and nurture their innate creativity. These classes serve as the cornerstone of their educational path, providing a solid groundwork that empowers students to skillfully translate their imaginative concepts into engaging and impactful visual narratives.

PPO (Pre-Placement Offer) and Pan-India Placement Assistance: Building Futures

A step forward, Red Apple Learning introduces "PPO", a pioneering initiative designed to offer aspiring game developers a sneak peek into their potential professional trajectories through pre-placement offers. This innovative approach allows students to gain invaluable insights into their future prospects within the gaming industry. Moreover, complementing this initiative, the institute also offers comprehensive pan-India placement assistance. This extensive program serves as a bridge connecting students with a plethora of opportunities spanning across the country. Leveraging a robust industry network, Red Apple Learning ensures that its students not only receive quality education but also seamlessly transition into the professional world, equipped with the necessary skills and connections to thrive in their careers.

Production House Backing: Bridging Education with the Industry

Red Apple Learning stands out with its unique feature of having a production house backing. This symbiotic relationship between education and industry provides students with exposure to real-world scenarios and practical experiences. Students collaborate on projects with the production house, gaining invaluable insights into the workings of the industry.

Experienced Faculty and Comprehensive Curriculum- The Guiding Lights of Expertise

The success of any educational institute lies in its faculty, and Red Apple Learning prioritizes this facet with utmost dedication. The institute boasts a team of experienced and passionate instructors who not only possess extensive knowledge in their specified field but also understand the industry's evolving trends. The curriculum at Red Apple Learning is thoughtfully designed by industry veterans to cover all aspects that are needed to get into the industry as a skilled professional. Students are exposed to various design projects and challenges, allowing them to build a diverse portfolio that showcases their creativity and expertise.

Meta-Cognitive Classes- Shaping Holistic Thinkers

Red Apple Learning goes beyond technical education with its unique meta-cognitive classes. These sessions delve into the cognitive processes underlying learning, enabling students to understand how they learn and think. Such insights empower students to adapt, innovate, and succeed not just in their academic pursuits but also in their professional careers.

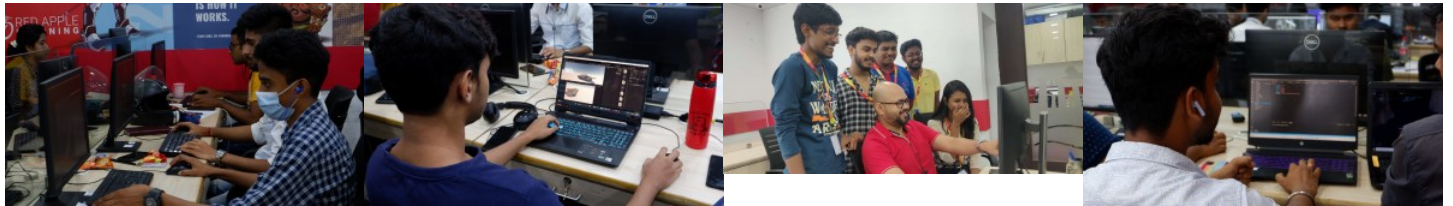

Red Apple Learning's dedication to innovation extends beyond the classroom with two groundbreaking initiatives:

- "Scope" Magazine- A Hub for Gaming Enthusiasts and ProfessionalsThe introduction of "Scope" e-magazine redefines community engagement within the gaming world. Beyond serving as a repository of gaming-related news, Scope fosters a vibrant community, offering a platform for interaction, information sharing, and exploration within the gaming domain.
- Pixels- The Gateway to Industry Insights and Career Pathways"Pixels" serves as a transformative platform where students gain insights into the workings of the animation, graphic design, and gaming industries. Tailored specifically to their courses, Pixels provides students with a roadmap of how these industries function and how they can navigate their career paths successfully.
