

Intista Announces Significant Update to Certified Acquisition Integration Manager Program

Leading provider of M&A integration certification releases important all-new additional update, expanding the learning scope and further enhancing their CAIM program.

Finance in Integrations

Intista

Fort Lauderdale, Florida Jan 29, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Intista, a leading provider of certification for Acquisition Integration Managers in the lower-mid and mid-market, is proud to announce the immediate release of a major enhancement to its prestigious Certified Acquisition Integration Manager (CAIM) program. The latest update introduces an all-new additional lesson titled "Finance in Integrations," specifically designed to address the spectrum of financial planning and reporting in smaller integrations.

In response to the evolving landscape of business acquisitions, Intista recognizes the importance of comprehensive financial understanding in the integration process. The new lesson, "Finance in Integrations," is now an integral part of the CAIM program and is immediately available for enrollees at www.intista.com/caim. This addition is poised to equip professionals with the essential skills and knowledge required for successful fiscal management within the context of smaller integrations.

The Finance in Integrations lesson will also be a key component of the upcoming CAIM class scheduled to commence on February 9th, 2024. Prospective candidates can find more information and secure their spot at Intista's CAIM Signup Page.

For those seeking targeted insights into finance within the integration process, Intista is pleased to offer "Finance in Integrations" as a standalone course. Interested individuals can conveniently purchase this specific module at www.intista.com/training.

As the sole provider of certification for Acquisition Integration Managers in the lower-mid market, Intista's team comprises experts with a deep understanding of integrating businesses with fewer than 500 employees. Their proficiency extends to the unique emphasis and focus areas that distinguish integrations of this scale from larger counterparts.

"We are excited to introduce 'Finance in Integrations' as a pivotal addition to our CAIM program," said Steve Nunn, CEO at Intista. "This new lesson reflects our commitment to providing a comprehensive education that meets the specific needs of professionals navigating the complexities of smaller M&A integrations. We believe that a strong foundation in financial planning and reporting is integral to achieving success in this field."

For media inquiries or further information, please contact:

Haydeé Nunn, Communications Director, haydee@intista.com, 954 300 1973

About Intista:

Intista is a leading provider of expertise for the integration of acquired lower-mid and mid-size markets. With expertise in integrating businesses with less than 1000 employees, Intista offers advisory services and a comprehensive certification program tailored to the unique challenges and opportunities of smaller integrations. For more information, visit www.intista.com.

Media Contact

Intista

haydee@intista.com

954 300 1973

Source : Intista

See on IssueWire