

Leadership Announcement for REDLINE Forensic Studios in Charlotte

Black female-led animation and video production company

Sterling, Virginia Feb 23, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - REDLINE Forensic Studios, LLC a leading animation and visual storytelling company celebrated for its commitment to excellence, innovation, and diversity, is delighted to announce the appointment of Kristin Keen as the new President.

“I am thrilled to see Kristin finally take the helm at REDLINE. The vision was always to have REDLINE Forensic Studios build off its reputation of visual storytelling for the legal community and expand into new audiences. I’ve collaborated with Kristin for years and her outstanding track record and innovative approach to business and leadership make her the ideal leader to guide REDLINE into its next chapter of success,” said Brian K. Anders, Founder, REDLINE Forensic Studios and DELTA |v| Forensic Engineering, Inc.

Keen brings extensive professional services experience to her new role, and a commitment to fostering diversity and promoting leadership opportunities for women within the video production industries and the local community. In her capacity as President, Keen is responsible for launching REDLINE as a stand-alone entity and its future growth. Previously, Keen was the Chief Professional Services Officer at DELTA |v| Forensic Engineering, where REDLINE incubated as a branded service line.

Under Keen's leadership, REDLINE will continue its dedication to storytelling by providing animation and visualization, video production, and video and animation strategy services for litigation, corporate, and the culture and lifestyle industries in North Carolina and across the US.

As a resident of Charlotte, Keen has immersed herself into the local business and philanthropic communities; she is on the Board of Directors of both Women's Impact Fund and the Project One Scholarship Foundation, is a founding member of the Novant Health Foundation Novateurs, and was a Charlotte Business Journal 40 Under 40 winner. Kristin Keen has both a BA and an MBA from Georgetown University.
