

Gary W. Yawn, Jr., MD, A Compassionate Interventional Cardiologist Dedicated to Patient-Centered Care

Leading Interventional Cardiologist, Dr. Yawn, Brings Expertise and Patient-Centered Approach to Ascension St. Thomas Heart in Gallatin, Tennessee

New York City, New York May 21, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Yawn, a distinguished interventional cardiologist, is currently affiliated with Ascension St. Thomas Heart, bringing with him a wealth of experience and a dedication to patient-centered care.

Specializing in the treatment of blockages in various arteries, including the legs, arms, neck, and heart, he is known for his meticulous approach and commitment to providing personalized care tailored to each patient's unique needs. "What sets us apart as cardiologists is our focus on a patient-centered approach, where we collaborate with patients to achieve the best possible outcomes," says Dr. Yawn.

A graduate of the Medical College of Georgia at Augusta University, Dr. Yawn obtained his medical degree in 2008 and went on to complete his internal medicine residency at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. His expertise was further honed through a cardiology fellowship at the Texas Heart Institute – Baylor College of Medicine, followed by an interventional cardiology fellowship at Baylor-St. Luke's Medical Center.

Beyond his medical practice, he is passionate about getting to know his patients on a personal level, taking the time to learn about their families, interests, and hobbies. This dedication to building strong patient relationships has earned him a reputation as a caring and empathetic physician who goes above and beyond for those under his care.

In his free time, Dr. Yawn enjoys reading, following college and professional sports - particularly football and hockey, and indulging in his love for hunting. He frequently goes bird hunting with his father, cherishing the time spent outdoors and bonding over shared interests.
