Now, the plot twist? Readers choose their champion from alternate outcomes.

About Richard Hedrick Jr.

Richard Hedrick Jr. is a distinguished figure in the martial arts community, holding multiple black belts and training in various disciplines. He's been featured in Black Belt Magazine for his tournaments and exhibits. "At my book fairs, "I discuss my projects but try to get everyone to relax. It is like a double-edged sword. First, Martial arts are practiced everywhere, yet when used, kids are expelled from school, and people are fired from their jobs challenging allegedly mean bosses. I have seen Black Belts take bullets acting as Bouncers to exploit their skills. Any listener is cautioned not to break boards. It saves your hands and the natural resources or wood from trees. Every Bully knows what that belt and uniform mean so why risk blood clots and ruining the limbs by wacking on stuff? After delivering the sobering messages, we then have fun determining the reader's favorite Showdown on Devil's Tower character from the novel," says Hedrick
