

Offering A Plethora Of Emotions With Beats, Blazin Releases New YouTube Video ‘SPOT LIGHT’

Bringing back the authentic essence of rap and hip-hop music Blazin has released a brand new music video for his latest track, ‘SPOT LIGHT’, available on YouTube.

Fort Wayne, Indiana May 7, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Hip-hop and Rap are one of the most popular contemporary music genres of today's world. This has given many artists their fame, recognition, and popularity all around the world, and now has become a mainstream music style. What started as just a street style, now is taking over international charts and attracting more and more musicians each day. One such artist is Blazin, who is making quite a lot of noise with his musical releases. Insanely talented and creative, this artist focuses on making, and remixing beats which he releases for others to freestyle on. His recent upload is 'SPOT LIGHT' which is now uploaded on YouTube and has already caught the attention of real hip-hop music lovers.

His last release also performed quite well on the streaming platform which made his fans anticipate new beats. However, the artist took his time to release this one and the wait was worth it. Since he released this new beat, the audiences have accepted and welcomed him with open arms and ears. The sharpness and the intelligence of the beat work as an inspiration for any budding artist who would want to hop on and make it even livelier by adding their ways of storytelling. This is also what the artist wants with his music. He has stated that this beat can be used for free only for the non-profit. However, whenever someone is going to be using this beat, Blazin must be credited. If any artist wants to make music on this beat, add lyrics, and make a full-length track, they must purchase a lease from the artist himself to put it on streaming platforms like Spotify, Apple Music, etc.

The artist has always been passionate about making music. Since his childhood, he has found music to be relaxing and inspiring at the same time, evoking emotions from within that he did not know existed. This further inspired him to pursue a career in music, leading him to where he is today, making and mixing beats. 'SPOT LIGHT' gives listeners the vibe of old times when the music style and genre were in their full glory. So in a way, this beat brings out the authentic essence of the genre, making people who are new to the style influenced and altered.
